

July 30, 2021

On May 19, 2021, Harbor announced that the Harbor Mid Cap Growth Fund's name and principal investment strategy would be changed. The Harbor Mid Cap Growth Fund will become the Harbor Disruptive Innovation Fund on or about September 1, 2021. More information on the investment strategy change can be found in the prospectus supplement.

The change in investment strategy is expected to drive a change in underlying holdings which will have a tax impact to taxable shareholders. The estimate in the table below is provided to assist shareholders in year-end tax and investment planning. These estimated distributions are based upon anticipated results of the investment strategy change. Actual distributions may vary, in some cases materially, from the estimates provided. For example, certain estimates and assumptions have been made about income, portfolio turnover and the number of shares outstanding to estimate the year-end distributions. Actual income and gains may be higher or lower than the estimated amounts, which could result in the actual distributions being higher or lower than the estimated distributions. The number of shares outstanding may also fluctuate materially between the date the estimates were made and the record date of the distribution. This fluctuation could result in a higher or lower distribution than is included in this estimate.

Updated ordinary income and capital gain estimates will be available on the Dividends & Distributions page at the end of October. Important year-end distribution dates are as follows:

Record Date: 12/17/21
Ex-Dividend Date : 12/20/21
Payable Date: 12/20/21
