Performance data shown represents past performance and is no guarantee of future results. Past performance is net of management fees and expenses and reflects reinvested dividends and distributions. Investment returns and principal value will fluctuate and when redeemed may be worth more or less than their original cost. Returns for periods less than one year are not annualized. Current performance may be higher or lower and is available through the most recent month end at harborcapital.com or by calling 800-422-1050.

Shares are bought and sold at market price not net asset value (NAV). A fund's NAV is the sum of all its assets less any liabilities, divided by the number of shares outstanding. Market price returns are based upon the closing composite market price and do not represent the returns you would receive if you traded shares at other times.

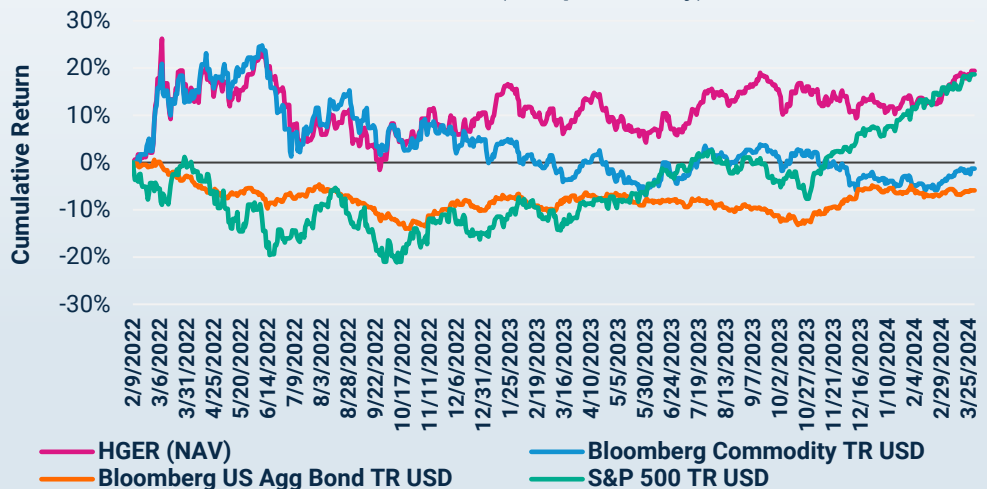

Differentiated Process = Differentiated Positioning & Differentiated Performance

The dynamic approach employed by the Quantix Commodity Index (QCI) results in differentiated positioning throughout cycles.

Driven by this differentiated positioning, HGER, which closely tracks the QCI, has cumulatively outperformed the Bloomberg Commodity Index by 20.70% (NAV) since its February 2022 inception.

HGER has also outpaced both the Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond and S&P 500 Indices since inception.

Quantix Commodities

Matthew Schwab
Portfolio Manager

Founded in 2018 and headquartered in Greenwich, CT, Quantix Commodities boasts a seasoned investment team averaging approximately 20 years of experience investing in commodities.

Prior to founding Quantix, the team worked side by side for seven years at Goldman Sachs to run one of the largest commodity index portfolios, developed innovative trading techniques seeking to outperform commodity indices, and developed bespoke investor solutions.

Leveraging this expertise and experience in enhanced commodity index investing, the team developed the Quantix Commodity Index and then the Harbor Commodity All-Weather Strategy ETF (HGER).

The index employs a dynamic approach that seeks to represent a more thoughtful approach to commodities investing.

Process

The Bloomberg Commodity Index (BCOM) often serves as a primary source of investors' broader-based commodities exposure. However, the Quantix Commodity Index (QCI) has exhibited outperformance relative to BCOM since the index inception given an allocation process that considers each commodity's inflation sensitivity and roll yield dynamics, and also incorporates a dynamic adjustment of its gold weighting for determined inflationary regimes.

Important Information

Risks

Investing involves risk, principal loss is possible. Unlike mutual funds, ETFs may trade at a premium or discount to their net asset value. The ETF is new and has limited operating history to judge.

There is no guarantee that the investment objective of the Fund will be achieved. Stock markets are volatile and equity values can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market and economic conditions. A non-diversified Fund may invest a greater percentage of its assets in securities of a single issuer, and/or invest in a relatively small number of issuers, it is more susceptible to risks associated with a single economic, political or regulatory occurrence than a more diversified portfolio.

Commodity Risk: The Fund has exposure to commodities through its and/or the Subsidiary's investments in commodity-linked derivative instruments. Authorized Participant Concentration/Trading Risk: Only authorized participants ("APs") may engage in creation or redemption transactions directly with the Fund. Commodity-Linked Derivatives Risk: The Fund's investments in commodity-linked derivative instruments (either directly or through the Subsidiary) and the tracking of an Index comprised of commodity futures may subject the Fund to significantly greater volatility than investments in traditional securities.

ETFs are subject to capital gains tax and taxation of dividend income. However, ETFs are structured in such a manner that taxes are generally minimized for the holder of the ETF. An ETF manager accommodates investment inflows and outflows by creating or redeeming "creation units," which are baskets of assets. As a result, the investor usually is not exposed to capital gains on any individual security in the underlying portfolio. However, capital gains tax may be incurred by the investor after the ETF is sold.

Benchmarks

The Bloomberg Commodity Index ("BCOM") is designed to be a highly liquid and diversified benchmark for commodity investments via futures contracts. The Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond Index is an unmanaged index of investment-grade fixed-rate debt issues with maturities of at least one year. The S&P 500 Index is an unmanaged index generally representative of the U.S. market for large capitalization equities. The Quantix Commodity Index ("QCI") is calculated on a total return basis, which combines the returns of the futures contracts with the returns on cash collateral invested in 13-week U.S. Treasury Bills. The Quantix Commodity Index was developed by Quantix Commodities LP and is owned by Quantix Commodities Indices LLC. These indices are unmanaged and do not reflect fees and expenses and are not available for direct investment.
